

Kingston Literacy Presents Words and Wisdom in the Wilson

A fundraising series of readings accompanied by amazing desserts

In December 2006, Kingston Literacy began its second year of Words and Wisdom in the Wilson with a joint reading by three fabulous local authors, and festive seasonal treats. What a gift to the community that evening was, followed by four more wonderful readings between February and May.

Each of our authors, Melanie Dugan, Mary Cameron, Eric Folsom, J.L. Granatstein, Trevor Cole, Frances Itani and Ted Barris, provided us with a wonderful opportunity to hear and explore their work in a unique way. Topping that off, our appetites were sated by incredibly delicious treats from some of Kingston's finest establishments. For more information on both the authors and the purveyors of sweets, please check the individual media kits on this site.

Here are just some of the amazing people and businesses who contributed to this series: Carynne Arnold, Ted Barris, Bread & Butter, Brown's Fine Food Services, CFRC, Mary Cameron, Chatterbook, Chez Piggy, Trevor Cole, Melanie Dugan, Eric Folsom, Frontenac Club Inn, J.L. Granatstein, Harper Collins Canada, Indigo Books & Music, Frances Itani, Kingston Hyundai, Kingston This Week, Kingston Whig-Standard, Darren MacDonald, Rachel Manno, McLelland & Stewart, Deb Nesbitt-Munroe, Pan Chancho, Sheila Round, Starbucks, Thomas Allen Publishers, VIA Rail, Donna Vinkle and Kelly Wheaton.

THE KINGSTON WHIG-STANDARD

